CUSTOMER TESTIMONIAL

"I have used the Land Sales Bulletin almost since its inception, even before Evan and Vicki took over its ownership, which they have vastly improved. In the agricultural real estate business, we must stay current on land values which go through cycles, as we are now experiencing. Our clients expect sound opinions of value when listing a property. When preparing a listing proposal, we always reference documented comparable sales in the vicinity of the subject property taken from the Land Sales Bulletin. We have retained copies for the last twelve years, which from time to time are referenced as to historical land values requests from clients. The Land Sales Bulletin is a very valuable resource, and we appreciate the continued work Evan and Vicki do to continue its availability."
